Elementary School Bond Issue May Be $350,000; Building Starts in Spring

West Pottsgrove school district authority, which will float a bond issue expected to range from $300,000 to $350,000 to build a new elementary school, has elected its officers and named its architect, financial advisor and solicitor. This was announced yesterday by the solicitor to the township's school board. Summarizing the steps taken by the authority, Roberts said:

"We're in business now." The five-man authority was organized with Joseph P. Krigolo, 525 Berks street, Stowe, as chairman; Henry W. Kulp, 58 East Vine street, Stowe, vice chairman; Russell P. Yost, 109 East Race street, Stowe, secretary, and Leonard Wert, 456 High street, Stowe, treasurer. The fifth member is Robert B. Harp, Grosstown road, Stowe.

They were named to the authority by the school board at its June meeting. The authority was chartered on July 10 by the Pennsylvania Department of State.

Appointed fiscal agent and financial advisor was Janney and company, Philadelphia.

Architect named was W. Marshall Hughes, Reading. He said yesterday that tentative plans are for a one-story building, with ten classrooms and a cafeteria and all-purpose room.

The elementary school will be built at the east end of the tract along Grosstown road on which the present West Pottsgrove High school is located. Hughes said it had not been decided finally whether the building will be of stone or brick.

Target date for the beginning of construction is Spring, the hope being that the school will be finished by the Fall of 1953.

Churches Hold Picnics After Postponements

(Pictures on Pages 8 and 14)

Baltzell Evangelical United Brethren church picnic at Sunnybrook park yesterday was the first outing of the church postponed in 50 years, according to an unofficial historian, Mrs. Florence Shellenberger, a member of the church that long.

The outing was postponed from the past Aug. 2 because of rain.

Few of the 63 adults and children who attended the affair thought at 4 p. m. when the outing was just getting underway and it began to rain that a second postponement would not be forthcoming, but the rain soon ceased and the picnic proceeded.

Humidity Blamed For Our Woes

Don't blame the carpenter, mother, for the sticking cupboard doors.

It's the humidity that's causing the trouble, says Matthew I. Peacock, Reading weatherman.

Peacock explained that there has been a lack of good, cool, dry air masses all summer long, causing more humidity than normal.

Yesterday the humidity ranged from 90 percent in the early morning hours to 65 percent during a light rain at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the mercury tumbled four degrees in an hour from a high of 82.

The forecast for today is fair with highest temperatures from 80 to 85 degrees. Tomorrow there will be considerable cloudiness, with warm and humid weather, and scattered showers.

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Fair today, with highest temperatures from 80 to 85 degrees. Tomorrow considerable cloudiness, warm and humid, with scattered showers likely in the afternoon or night.

CAGES ARE FOR THE BIRDS!

Patsy's Left—She Flew the Coop

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Patsy: Please Come home, all is forgiven. Signed Rickey.

Patsy is one of three parakeets (like little parrots) that made a bold dash to the great outdoors yesterday morning at 10 o'clock from a cage in the living-room of Mrs. Ruth B. Kirkpatrick, 26 South Charlotte street.

The two he-birds, Bobbie and Junie, were found quickly.

George Mohr, manager, reported, "He didn't say what he wanted."

LeRoy Christman, a part-time worker there, picked the bird up without a murmur from it. Ignoring the remark of William Burgoyne, a clerk, that "Maybe he wants grease for his wings," Christman gave the bird to a girl who knew the birds were missing.

THE OTHER he-bird, Bobbie, was discovered loitering in a doorway a few blocks away on Queen street, possibly to whistle at any female robins that might fly by.

Another friend returned Bobbie to Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

The third bird who took the duck, so to speak, yesterday was still missing last night. This bird one is Patsy, a she-bird.

Rickey is her mate. Like Patsy, he is a beautiful turquoise color.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick declared of Rickey: "Oh! how he hollers call" (Continued on Page Nineteen)

"Where's Patsy?" Mrs. Ruth B. Kirkpatrick, 26 South Charlotte street, asks the two parakeets, Junie (left) and Bobbie, who flew from the house yesterday morning. Junie was found quickly. He walked into the Pep Boys store at High and Charlotte streets, where he hopped onto the hand of LeRoy Christman (in left photo), a part-time worker at the store. Bobbie was found loitering in a doorway. But Patsy, the one she-bird of the trio, still was missing last night. Junie and Bobbie can be trained to speak English, but because there are eight parakeets in Mrs. Kirkpatrick's living room, they all stick stubbornly to their native parakeet

YWCA Head Is Solver of Many Problems

A gray-haired woman sits behind an office desk at the Young Women's Christian association, 315 King street, ready for any problems that may walk in.

Her name is Mrs. Alex V. Tisdale, and during the past 10 years as executive director she has helped resolve the difficulties of such visitors as truant school children, needy families, and a soldier who wanted a bath. (He was directed to the YMCA down the street.)

"Membership is not demanded to use the YWCA," Mrs. Tisdale emphasizes. "What we ask of the community is that they come in and tell us their problems, and we'll do all we can to help."

Besides serving as a residence for 13 women, the YWCA serves as a headquarters for a variety of community activities. During the past year, over 20,000 persons attended the clubs, classes, dances and sports events in the two-story building which served as a man-sion-house before it opened as a YWCA on April 3, 1913.

THE YWCA gym represents a site of fun and happiness to the elderly members of the Golden Age club, who meet on Monday afternoons from September to June. Loneliness is dispelled as members listen to speakers, watch films, play games and chat.

Since its inception on April 17, 1950, when 34 persons attended the first meeting, the club member-

Work on Streets Scheduled Today

Three borough streets will be barricaded today with no parking signs while they are surface treated, Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden announced yesterday. Streets which will be surfaced with a light film of oil and covered with stones are Queen street from Keim street to Moser road; Cherry street from Price to Rohland streets; and Maple street from Moser road to Rohland street.

The projects which will be started today if the weather permits will be part of the borough's proposed 16-mile surfacing program.

Babies Are Becoming Dearer

Young Mothers Find Costs Are Going up Steadily

By CHARLES T. HEARN
(Mercury Staff Writer)

"Now you just take care of yourself, daughter, and eat enough to feed two of you and when the time comes to have your baby we'll call the doctor right here at home."

That was the economical advice mother gave to daughter about 20 to 30 years ago when a child was expected.

But not today.

Prospective mother must take vitamin pills—

She must take iron tablets, pills to ward off nausea, capsules to make her sleep, and other multi-colored tablets for her kidneys, liver and blood pressure—all costing more.

And then when the final moment of delivery comes she finds that she will pay the doctor more than double what her mother paid when she was born. The average delivery in Pottstown is about $70 as compared with $25 two decades ago.

Mrs. Earl M. Elliott, 473 North Charlotte street, said, "Yes indeed, everything is changed today. When I had my children over 20 years ago I had a private room at the hospital for $25 a week."

—high-priced

Recent Pottstown mothers have paid anywhere from $7.50 to $13.50 per day.

"WHEN WE were in the hospital those days," Mrs. Elliott went on, "we weren't allowed to move about for nine days and they'd keep us there for at least ten."

"Why I've seen some mothers now-a-days sitting up and even walking on the second day," she said with apparent amazement.

Mrs. Eli Ludwig, 29 Chestnut street, recalls, "I bought a bassinet about 22 years ago for $5 and it is still being used. Something like that would cost quite a bit now and it wouldn't be as serviceable."

"Try and get one that's half decent for under $15," the young Pottstown mothers cry.

MRS. GUY A. SPERAT, 404 Cherry street, said, "I paid $25 and $30 each to have my children."

"I had nine of them," she continued, "and all of them at home."

"The cribs I bought cost me about $9 and $10 and I made my own diapers," she added.

Today, the young mothers pay at least $3 for a dozen of medium-quality baby unmentionables. Or they pay about $2 per week for a diaper service which lends them diapers and launders them.

Cribs are hard to get under $40.

Another step saver which has been added today, at an extra cost, of course, is the diaper filler, blotter-like paper pads inserted in the diapers to save the wash.

Mrs. Sperat's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Guy Sperat Jr., 414 South street, is only envious of the low cost bills her mother-in-law had to meet.

She would prefer the modern

Borough Budget Seen Winding up in Black At End of This Year

J. Wayne Knause, chairman of borough council's finance committee, tunneled through a mountain of figures yesterday to come out smiling and declare: "The budget looks very excellent this year."

Barring unforeseen financial events, he said, the borough should finish the budget year ending Dec. 31 in the black.

He said, "I think this year, we have a better outlook, a better standing than we have had in the past two years that I have been finance chairman."

One reason for the good news at the seven-months mark, Knause said, is that the borough has been following the good-housekeeping practice of estimating revenue "conservatively," so that any unexpected drop would not throw the whole picture out of line.

The mountain of figures is a running account of revenue and expenditures that Knause is having kept. It is complete through July 31.

Despite the fact that the figures do not include August, which is the biggest month for real estate and occupational tax collections, the borough already has taken in more than a third of its $338,900 target.

Income from other sources, such as permits and parking meters, generally is running well ahead of estimates. An exception is income from motor vehicle fines. It's lagging because State troopers recently have been fining overloaded trucks in Douglassville, not in the borough.

THE SEVEN-MONTH total for miscellaneous revenue is $118,637. The 12-month target was $161,675.

Altogether, the borough has received $369,521 of the $333,575 it wanted for the full year.

Things are equally black—which to Knause is bright—in the expenditure columns.

The borough has nearly half of the $142,497 it allotted for highways yet to spend; nearly half of $27,010 amount allotted to administration, and has spent only $50,029 of the $105,325 allotted police operation and maintenance.

Altogether, more than $200,000 is unspent.

Three other Democrats interested in serving the year and a half remaining of Koch's four-year term withdrew as candidates during the 2½-hour meeting in the St. Gabriel lodge hall

Casket Strikers Back at Work

Production returned to normal at the Boyertown Burial Casket company yesterday as 375 members of Local 406, Upholsterers' International Union (AFU) went back to work after a two-day strike.

An impartial arbitrator is expected to be named shortly to resolve the issues leading to the strike, which was called to protest the firing of Floyd R. Ward, company employee charged with advising a "slow-down" in production.

Ward returned to work with the other men, pending the outcome of arbitration.

Home Plans, Industry Expansion Keep Pottstown Builders Busy

Like the sprouting adolescent, Pottstown flexes its muscles daily.

The brawny jobs of home building and industrial expansion have assumed a leading role in the borough's weekly routine.

Builders have stepped up the bang and rattle of construction.

Planned new construction in the area, residential, institutional and industrial, has eclipsed the $11,000,000 mark this year.

Nearly 60 homes in the Pottsgrove manor development of F. L.

Collins corporation, West King street, are under construction.

This figure represents less than 25 percent of the planned development. The Collins corporation announced a 265-home project this past Spring.

TEN RANCH-TYPE homes of the Rodgers Park development, south side of West King street, are nearly ready for their new owners.

Builders Nathan Alterman and Herman Newman, Philadelphia, will

Driver Suffers Burns as Fire Damages Truck

A Philadelphia suffered first and second degree burns of the hands and forearms late yesterday afternoon as he tried to remove some clothing from the burning cab of his tractor-trailer truck on Swamp pike near Faglesville.

Benjamin F. Hightower, 40, the driver, was treated at 4:45 p. m. at Memorial hospital, where he was driven by Roger Schlichter, a Limerick fireman, and discharged.

The inside of the cab and the motor of the truck, owned by S. D. Richman Sons, a Philadelphia scrap iron firm, were destroyed by the fire, (Continued on Page Nineteen)

Citizens to Meet On Street Issue

Residents of Hemlock and Cottage rows will discuss tonight a proposed street from Hemlock row to Walnut street.

Charles Prince, president of the Pottstown chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, (NAACP), reported the session will be held at 8 o'clock.

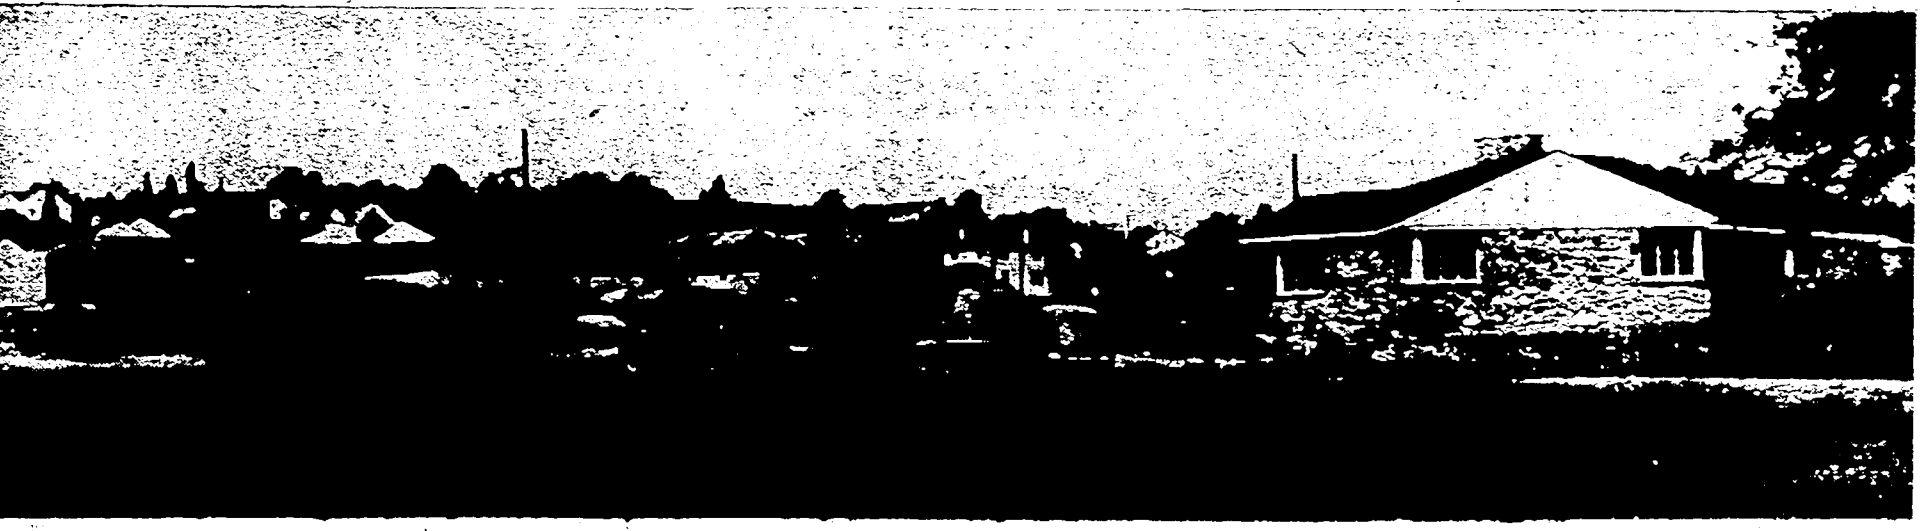

An ordinance, providing the borough take over the 300-foot strip of street, was scheduled for council Monday night, but could not be submitted because not all property owners had signed releases.

Tonight's meeting will include a discussion on the technicalities relatives to the ordinance.

The session will be held in Mt. Herman Baptist church, Hemlock row, and will affect approximately 20 families.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By MARTIN SALDITCH

SIXTY-THREE-YEAR-OLD Charles H. Diener, a man who loves machinery, lives and works in a jam-packed shop at the rear of 565 Lincoln avenue, where he sharpens lawn mowers, performs odd jobs, and works enthusiastically on several inventions.

Diener did quite a bit of job-roaming before he started his own shop over 20 years ago.

Charles H. Diener

"I was a guy who always wanted to stay in one job for a long time," he says, "but I never could find one to suit me."

A Pottstown native, Diener was born Jan. 2, 1889, the oldest of four boys. He quit school at 14 after a knee was injured in a game.

"I didn't feel like going back after I recovered," Diener recalls, "because I would be bigger than the kids in my grade."

He went to work at a Stowe silk mill, at $1.50 for a 55-hour week, and two trolley tickets a day. Diener still fondly recalls reeling the silk threads, a job he enjoyed, though it only lasted a Summer.

Diener then joined the Stanley G. Flagg company as a core maker, but had to leave after several months when his shop burned down, destroying his clothes and tools. He spent the next three years as a coreman at the Light Manufacturing and Foundry company.

Diener was mechanically inclined, and decided to switch to the Chadwick Automobile company machine shop, where during the next two years he worked on practically every part, and helped assemble motors.

In 1911, when jobs were hard to find, Diener went to Philadelphia in search of work.

"I walked the streets during the Winter without an overcoat," he remarked, "while men were standing in snow outside plants with their toes sticking out of their shoes, looking for jobs."

Diener was a maintenance man for a while then shifted to a paper box and printing press manufacturer.

"That company had a lot of European business," he says, "and they were ready to send me over to England to help set up a plant, when the First World War broke out in 1914. Instead of going overseas, I was laid off."

Diener later became foreman at a valve company, which made the valves for the lock chambers of the Panama Canal.

Meanwhile, he obtained a patent on a kerosene carburetor for stationary and farm engines, and decided to return to Pottstown to produce it at the shop he and his brother, Robert, built on Lincoln avenue.

"By the time we got into production," Diener recalls sadly, "the price of kerosene went up and gas came down, so there wasn't any demand for the item."

He returned to the Light Manufacturing and Foundry company in 1918, while working out a patent on a cutout valve for motorcycles. In 1919 he started mass-producing them in the shop, with 12 assistants, and sold hundreds of thousands from Canada to South America during the next five years.

He was put out of business by the law, however. Residents in many communities complained about the noise caused by the valves, and New Jersey took the lead in passing laws calling for mufflers, and business soon dwindled.

From 1924 to 1929 he worked as a machinist for the Vaughn Knitting mills, and helped develop several models of a machine that would put an angular stripe on men's stockings.

In 1929, Diener broke his right hip in an accident, and spent several months in the hospital. After he got out he decided to stick to his own shop, and go into business for himself.

Since then he has been sharpening lawn-mowers, working on inventions (such as a safety door for submarines), and gradually piling up the loads of tin cans, tool parts, boxes, newspapers and debris which threaten to crowd him out of his shop in the near future.

Like Fibber McGee, Diener says wistfully:

"One of these days I'm going to clean this place out."

"NOTHING PLEASES me more than to satisfy other people's appetites," declares Miss L. Mae Christman, a Pottstown woman who makes a full-time job out of preparing and serving attractive foods. Miss Christman, who caters to cocktail parties, luncheons, dinners and receptions, is perhaps better known for her specialty of baking decorated birthday cakes and chocolate-covered peppermint squares "which cannot be duplicated."

"I have always loved cooking," says Miss Christman, who was born 52 years ago in the same house she lives in now at 504 Walnut street. After graduating from Pottstown High school in June, 1917, she became a secretary at the Shoemaker Bridge company, Stowe, where she remained for three years.

In 1920, Miss Christman became a clerical worker at the Hill school, where she spent four years. From 1924 to 1952 she was employed by a brokerage firm in Philadelphia.

Returning to Pottstown during the business depression, she became office manager of the local State Emergency Relief Board, and after that agency was abolished, worked for the State Unemployment service.

Four years ago Miss Christman decided to make a full time job out of her hobby — cooking. She started out making mints from a recipe obtained from a Norristown woman.

"All you need is imagination in this business," Miss Christman claims. "I developed that recipe to perfection, and people began ordering more and more. It wasn't long before I added salted nuts, brownies, nut taffs, fancy cookies and nut breads to my menu."

The next step was to go into the catering business and Miss Christman began to do the buying, preparing and cooking of meals, with the assistance of four women who do the serving. The busiest time for her is the Christmas season, when customers have to order weeks ahead of time for candy, nuts and fruit cake.

"Everything I make is made to order," says Miss Christman. "Everything I deliver is fresh."

She also cooks foods to send out, such as roasted turkey, baked ham and molded salads.

Miss Christman's sister, Mabel, however, does the cooking for the family, which includes their mother, Mrs. Laura B. Christman, and brother, Oliver L. Christman, a florist.

Miss Christman suspends her cooking during the Summer months in order to work at a gift shop at Ogunquit, Me.

"It's really beautiful up there," she says, expressing a fondness for country life.

A member of Trinity Reformed church, her only other outside interest is gray lady work with the Red Cross.

"I don't mind doing chores around the hospitals," she says. "I have always enjoyed being of service to the sick."

Groundwork Is Laid By Demo Policy Group

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13 (P)—The 21-member Democratic State Policy committee meets here tomorrow to lay the groundwork for the party's campaign to win four state-wide offices in the Nov. 4 election.

The committee, consisting of the party's top State level officials, is expected to discuss the strategy to be used in their campaign. The candidates are former Federal Judge Guy K. Bard, Ephrata, for U. S. Senate; Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pittsburgh, for auditor general; Judge Harry M. Montgomery, Pittsburgh, for State supreme court justice; and State Sen. George M. Leader, York, for State treasurer.

State Department Hit By Maury Maverick

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (P)—Maury Maverick, long-time Texas Democratic politician, today called the State department "the worst administration in the Government."

Maverick popped out with that opinion on the White House steps. He said he had just talked with President Truman, about difficulties he has experienced as a lawyer in seeking to get a number of Chinese clients, born in China of American parents, admitted to this country.

In his opinion, Marverick said, Secretary of State Acheson is so afraid of criticism by Sens. McCarran (R-Wis.), McCarron (D-Nev.) and others that the department is "infiltrated with timorousness."

"I'm not worried about Mr. Acheson being a Communist, but about his being afraid of being called a Communist," Marverick added.

Unions in England Call for Higher Pay

SOUTHSEA, Eng., Aug. 13 (P)—Labor unions representing 1,250,000 workers in key engineering industries today called for higher pay. If the wage bid fails, they said they will call strikes which could cripple Britain's vital defense projects and stall State-run railways.

The move—latest in a series which could torpedo the Government's war-born wage negotiations system—came from the powerful confederation of 35 shipbuilding and engineering unions holding their annual parley at this south coast resort.

Making its first general strike threat since Britain evolved its wage negotiation system in World War II, the conference decided to:

1. Ask employers again for a raise.
2. Meet Sept. 10 to consider results of the wage plea and decide on action if it is rejected.

Lightning-hit Youth Relates Experiences

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Aug. 13 (P)—An injured mountain climber, who was hit by the same lightning bolts that killed his companion, said today "the heat was so great it melted the can in my pack." The pack was on his back.

Alan Robert (Bob) Grant, 19, told of the ordeal with death on his arrival here on the Coast Guard helicopter that snatched him from Mt. Stuart, in the Cascades, today after being turned back by tough weather twice Tuesday.

Fruit juice cans in Grant's haversack were fused together by the lightning that burned him and killed Paul Brikoff, 20. Both Seattle youths were University of Washington students.

"I was about 20 feet from Paul when the first lightning bolt struck us Sunday," Grant related from the stretcher on which he lay with his burned feet bandaged after three harrowing days on the mountain. "It knocked me about 20 feet and died a few minutes later."

Byrnes Signs Ticket For Eisenhower Electors

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 13 (P)—Gov. James F. Byrnes, a lifelong Democrat, today signed a petition for an independent slate of presidential electors pledged to Gen. Eisenhower.

The former secretary of state told the State Democratic convention the past week that as of that time he would vote for Gov. Adlai Stevenson. But he added that he is reserving the right to make up his mind fully before the November election.

Although Byrnes advised the convention to place Stevenson's name on the State party's ballot, he added: "At the same time, I feel strongly that every voter should have the opportunity to vote his convictions."

farther away from Paul and behind a little ridge.

"About four other bolts hit us. I stayed where I was, trying to get under a tree. After a while I heard Paul calling to me. 'I'm hurt badly.' Then he crawled down to me and died a few minutes later."

Dr. Baumann Discusses Effects of Communism

Dr. Harold C. Baumann, Pottstown optometrist, discussed the effects of Communism on children during a meeting of the Kiwanis club Tuesday night.

Dr. Baumann emphasized that in Russia, the Communist party has complete control of children during the formative period, and there is little parents can do to mould their ideas.

President Stanley I. Davenport Jr. was in charge of the meeting, which was attended by 54 members.

Molding Stolen At Homes Project

Anthony Plosicki, a watchman at a housing development on Wilson street, reported to police Tuesday that thieves had broken into several of the nearly-completed homes in the project and stolen 400 feet of molding from one within the past few nights after he had left the project at 10 p. m.

Plosicki requested police to check the construction site periodically after 10 p. m.

The watchman told Motor Patrolman Earl J. Rhoads the houses have been entered from the rear. Entrance into the house from which the molding was stolen, he said, was gained by breaking a window in the rear door of the house.

Fussy Thief Takes Two Dress Shirts From Stowe Home

A burglar with a preference for shirts over jewelry broke into a Stowe home early last night.

When Mrs. Douglas Reitmeyer, 531 East Howard street, took her four children, Russell, Darrell, Roger and Vicki, to bed at 9:30 o'clock last night, she discovered the burglary in the front, second-floor bedroom.

Two of her husband's shirts, one white and the other blue, were stolen from a bureau drawer. Mrs. Reitmeyer's two rings were on the floor.

"She explained, 'I searched everywhere and I don't think anything else was taken.'"

THE WOMAN, who has been living in the Howard street home for the past four months, took her children for a visit to the Summer cottage of her aunt, Mrs. Clyde Ludwig, Amityville.

She left at 6 p. m. and returned by 8:40 o'clock. When she discovered the burglary she told a neighbor William Mace, 547 East Howard street.

Mace called West Pottsgrove Chief James V. Guadagno and Patrolman Anthony Cancelliere. Neither was available and Mace then called Reading State police.

There was no damage downstairs. Mrs. Reitmeyer said she thought the burglar was someone familiar with family habits. Her husband was at work in the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation when the burglar made his entry.

Hill, a past president of the Bethlehem Rotary club, will illustrate his talk with motion pictures of the Scandinavian countries.

Rent Control Action Delayed by Township

Upper Hanover supervisors have postponed until their September meeting action on Federal authorization to extend rent controls in the township.

The supervisors took no action at their August meeting the past Tuesday night because they want to know more about the extension authorization. They expect to have the additional information next month.

The supervisors learned at the meeting that blacktopping of eight-tenths of a mile of Frey road between Pennsburg and Six Corner church will be completed as soon as a contractor delivers oil needed in the work.

PLANES DELIVERED WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Air Force said today it has started deliveries of new planes to the Far East in an effort to bring the reserve strength of each combat wing up to recommended levels.

The first broadcast of election results took place in 1920 when station KDKA reported the Harding-Cox presidential results.

Children Stage Show

thorne Jr., Donald Grebe and Skippy Bittler.

About 200 children formed the chorus for the operetta.

The operetta was directed by Mrs. Florence Manthorne, director of playgrounds.

On the scenery committee were David Towers, Charles Dwyer, Mary Lou Singer, Barbara Cressman and Mrs. Vera Lumis.

After the operetta Hillcrest playground acted the wedding of Lil Abner and Daisy Mae as their stunt.

St. Clair playground's stunt was a wrestling match in the "St. Clair Rainbow Arena."

"THE PARK ROMANCE" was a short playlet presented by the Happy Hill playground as its stunt.

The Lincoln playground must have had their stunt inspired by the circuses which appeared in Pottstown in the past two months—they put on a circus performance with elaborate costuming and make-up.

The Manatawny playground raised a rumpus with their kitchen utensil "symphony band."

The Franklin playground contrasted almost quietly with Manatawny when it offered a novelty song as its stunt entitled, "Never Tell a Lie."

Jefferson playground raised a laugh in the audience when it demonstrated "What Not to Do in Craft Class." The children let go all inhibitions in the performance, throwing spit balls, putting glue on seats, shooting water pistols and giving the playground leader a bushel of trouble.

THE RUPERT playground carried out the bi-centennial celebration as the theme of its stunt.

The children of Rupert were dressed in colonial costume and danced the minuet on the stage.

The presenting of awards for service during the 1952 playground season climaxed the evening's festivities.

Awards were given to children who earned points by attendance at the playground, their behavior, their contribution toward keeping the play area clean, their skill in the crafts and sports which were a routine part of the playground's day and for their participation in special affairs.

The playgrounds and the children who were presented awards were:

Franklin—Bonnie Hurter, Donna Hurter, Dickie Hurter, Tommy Meade, Jimmy Meade, Jackie Meade, Barbara Hurter, Patty Stranick, Mary Ann Scheidt and Hillcrest—Philip Sotter, Carol Landis, Stanley Miller and Ronald Dimino.

Truman, Adlai Set Campaign

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 13 (AP)—Presidential Nominee Adlai E. Stevenson and President Truman will throw the 1952 Democratic presidential campaign into high gear with Labor Day speeches in Detroit and Milwaukee.

This news came late today in simultaneous announcements from Stevenson's headquarters here and from the White House. Stevenson will launch his campaign at noon, Sept. 1, in Detroit while Truman will speak at 10 p. m. (Pottstown time) in Milwaukee.

The Detroit speech will be sponsored by a "Joint Labor Day Committee" of the AFL and CIO, Stevenson's headquarters said. Truman's address, it was said, also will be sponsored by labor groups.

The campaign strategy resolved any conflict between the two over speaking dates and opened the way for a one-two attack against the Republicans in the formal campaign opening.

Once the battle for the presidency is underway, Stevenson is expected to carry the "whistle stop" burden in a tour across the nation with Truman pitching into the fight from time to time.

THIS DEVELOPMENT came after GOP vice presidential nominee Richard Nixon of California told reporters: "If Stevenson has to carry Truman on his back—it assures his defeat in November."

Nixon said "Trumanism" would be a major campaign issue. He added that he and GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower are convinced "Stevenson is unable to sever his own campaign from Truman and has been unable to get him off his back."

Earlier in a speech at a Republican rally at the Illinois State fair, Nixon had called Stevenson a "helpless captive" of those who engineered his nomination at the Democratic National convention.

There was no immediate comment from the Stevenson headquarters on the Nixon charges.

William I. Flanagan, Stevenson's press secretary, told reporters earlier Stevenson will make a train tour across the country on a "whistle stop" drive for votes. Detailed plans probably will be worked out by a special strategy board which will meet here this weekend.

The part that Truman will play in the campaign is not yet entirely clear at Stevenson's headquarters here. One source said it was understood Mr. Truman would make a "variety of speeches" during the campaign.

White House aides said in Washington the President definitely will not campaign on the same scale as he did in 1948 when he made 358 speeches on his hard-hitting campaign drive.

It was said in Washington Truman probably would make a half dozen speeches in key areas where it is believed he would be most effective.

There was a chance Stevenson might speak to the New York State Democratic convention Aug. 28, the day after he is due to address the American Legion National convention in New York City.

Flanagan said Paul Fitzpatrick, New York Democratic State chairman, would visit Stevenson tonight and the two probably would discuss a Democratic convention appearance.

PEASANTS AIDED

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 13 (AP)—Peasants to be used to aid needy farmers Mohammed Mossadeq, withers. The Government will set up a sweeping decree giving Iran's sharecropping peasants more of what they produce.

The decree is expected to cut the ground from under Communists who have been propagandizing for land and agricultural reforms.

It was the first order issued by the aged, ailing premier since Parliament granted him the right to rule the country dictatorially for six months.

In general, the decree specified that from now on landlords will have to turn over 10 percent of their share of the products and cash incomes of their estates to the sharecroppers. They will also have to deposit another 10 percent of the cash income in special rural banks to be used to aid needy farmers.

AFL Invites Ike, Stevenson to Speak

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 13 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council said today it is inviting Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson to the union's National convention next month in New York—something it's never done before.

After the two men address the convention, the AFL's political strategists are expected to recommend whether or not the eight million member organization should back either man.

President Truman also is being invited to the convention, which opens Sept. 15.

The AFL strategists side stepped the endorsement of any favorite for the time being. Traditionally they don't openly take sides. But AFL President William Green said it's an open question whether they will this time.

Next month's convention will be the first ever held by the AFL before the presidential election.

Ceiling Price Hikes Due for Metal Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Ceiling prices for a wide range of consumer goods containing steel, aluminum and copper are due to be boosted soon under an order being rushed to completion by the Office of Price Stabilization. It may be out in a few days.

Price control officials stressed the higher ceilings will not necessarily mean higher selling prices. They said the selling prices will depend on market factors, including what the consumer will be willing to pay.

But, they said, they are under pressure from a growing list of manufacturers for the right to raise their ceilings to reflect higher costs of the metals.

Automotive equipment parts manufacturers for instance, asked today for the right to raise their ceilings to cover 100 percent the higher costs of copper, steel and aluminum.

GEN. IKE TOLD HE'LL GET HALF OF LABOR VOTE

Prediction Is Made By Stassen; Advice On Campaign Is Given

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, told he would get half the vote of organized labor in November, also was advised today that the voters are looking for an aggressive, hard-hitting campaign.

The prediction on the labor vote came from Harold E. Stassen, the former Minnesota governor told newsmen it was made by a major, responsible labor leader. Stassen said the man supported the late Franklin D. Roosevelt but Stassen did not name him.

The campaign advice for the Republican presidential nominee came from Rep. A. L. Miller, of Nebraska, once an avid supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur for the presidency.

After a talk with Eisenhower, Miller told newsmen that he made these suggestions:

1. That the General's campaign statements should "have some meat in them, something that will give the people a little more faith in government."

2. That the General should "be human; get right out and mix with" the people.

3. That Nebraska Republicans "are hopeful the statements will be a little right of center. They don't like the idea of going along with the New Deal on the basis of 'we can do it better.'"

Miller said he was afraid Eisenhower had been advised too much by what he called "a group left of center." Newsmen asked him to elaborate. He referred to some telegram he said was sent the General by a group of Congressmen.

He said that among them was Rep. Javits (R-N.Y.). Then he dropped the subject.

ATTACK SMASHED

SEOUL, Thursday, Aug. 14 (AP)—U.S. Marines — proudly flying a bullet-tattered flag given them by a Korean orphanage—smashed a third Chinese assault on Bunker Hill last night with blazing gunfire.

The Reds pressed their third determined bid for the western Korean front hill in battalion strength—an estimated 150 men—after an intense, three-hour artillery barrage ending at 3.05 p. m.

Scout Scheme By Reds Aired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Senate investigators today made public testimony that Communists plotted to infiltrate the Boy Scout movement and muscle into schools and churches.

The scheme was described by witnesses at a series of closed-door hearings held the past Spring by the Senate's internal security subcommittee.

In making the testimony public, the inquiry group recommended that copies of its report be circulated among American youth leaders, youth organizations, schools and colleges as a warning against being taken in by the Reds.

Witnesses said the infiltration program was aimed at winning over young people while they were still "pretty green."

"Communism with sugar coating" was the way one 13-year-old witness, Herbert Romerstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., put it.

"I can conceive of few greater crimes," Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), a member of the subcommittee, declared in a statement released with the report.

Another member of the group, Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) said that finding ways to combat Communist influence among the youth of the country is one of the urgent problems of the day.

O'Connor said the testimony taken at the hearings shows that the Communists formed ostensibly innocent groups in high schools, colleges and other places—groups that had no open connection with the Communist party but were definitely teaching the party line.

Harvey M. Matusow of Dayton, Ohio, who said he was a former Communist now working with the Ohio commission on UN-American activities, told the Senators about attempts to infiltrate the Boy Scouts. He testified the past March 5.

Singing British Teacher Right at Home in America

By PATRICIA GIBBON
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Like another young lady with the name Margaret, Miss Margaret Brace is very much interested in singing. But this Margaret's home is only temporarily in America.

Miss Brace is visiting this country in the homes of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin N. Chaplin, 348 Walnut street, and Mrs. Leroy Miller, 548 East Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown. Her visit, the first she has made to this country, is the fulfillment of a longstanding promise.

Letters had been flying back and forth across the ocean for years before Miss Brace finally developed enough courage to leave her teaching job in England and make the voyage to the American branch of the family.

Her teaching job, in an a pound and a quarter a month, "infant school," sounds very actually, the candy ration is not much like the job with which American children are not so used to. Kindergarten teachers are to casually picking up a candy bar faced—amusing, by games and as you Americans are. It must be that, children from 5 to 6 years old. But she has a special gift with which she can invariably "soothe the savage beast" within the infant, for most everybody is quite fat. That fat, though, is the kind of fat that comes from eating a starch diet. It is rather hard now.

ON THE beach near the shore of Scotland where her Middlesex brough school is located, she often takes her 36 children for an afternoon of games and musical stories. Since it is so near the sea, the school building is often quite cold in the winter.

"One time last winter," she giggled, "the central heating went on the blink. I went down the stairs to see if I could start it again. I looked and looked at all the handles and pipes while the children huddled upstairs in their coats and mittens. It was a horrid monster and quite undecipherable. And then, to top it all, my head (her principal) came down the stairs and hauled me on the carpet because she thought I had let the fire go out."

But teaching, like embroidering and china painting, is a secondary love in Miss Brace's life. Her first is singing. She has studied voice as a contralto for many years in her home town, Middlesbrough, a town of about the size and charm of Pittsburgh, and New Castle.

IN HER town when she was a child, there was a large community of Welsh people, renowned for their interest in music and things musical. They often held "cisted-fods," a Welsh expression for what we call a music festival. At these festivals were competitions in all kinds of singing and dancing.

"Everyone with sufficient talent was welcome to compete," Miss Brace explained. "And luckily I was a frequent winner, even as a small child. It's a great pity," she added, "but this custom has almost completely died out. Now, I believe, there is only one year, and that one is held in Wales."

At one time, she was advised to study with a former star of Sadler Wells, which she did. With this teacher, she worked in a higher range, as a soprano, which eventually, to her horror, strained her vocal chords to such a degree that she could not sing at all. It was not until a few weeks before she came to this country that she regained the full use of her voice. "Like a bird who has just been offered a particularly choice brand of birdseed," her interest lies, mainly in ballads, light opera and religious selections.

MISS Brace has the full speaking voice of a singer and what she calls "the typical English complexion, blonde, blue-eyed, and very fair." It was this usually to be desired complexion, though, which caused her endless anxiety during her recent jaunt to Atlantic City, a retreat only for the lobster-skinned.

"The one spot I was able to find comfort in was by staying within a very tall person's shadow; he was a sort of walking beach umbrella."

When queried about the rationing of clothes and food in England, Miss Brace was quite obviously torn two ways. Her evident appreciation of food American, its quality and quantity, insisted that she be honest in her expressions of delight; but her pride, equally evident, in England and a feeling of loyalty to it compelled her to minimize and qualify her statements about the substance status quo.

"One is faced with one of two problems in obtaining food in England," she said seriously. "Each person is allowed about 15 cents worth of meat per week. It is not, you see, a question completely of expensive meat or non-existent meat. For a family of three, as my mother, my father, and me, we can obtain a piece of meat weekly, for instance a roast, about the size of a recipe box. It is just the other way around with fish and

Teen-Aide Auxiliary 'Dogpatch Hop' Is Outlined at Meeting

Although Lal Abner and his friends would most likely jump the fence to get to a dance, members and guests of the Teen Aide auxiliary of Portstown hospital will enter through the gate on Queen street Wednesday, Aug. 20, when a 'Dogpatch Hop' will be staged from 7:30 to 11 o'clock in the Elcker's Stables.

Stiles for the dance will feature dungarees or overalls for the boys while the girls will wear peasant skirts and blouses. It was announced at last night's meeting at Sunnysbrook park.

Naturally, square dancing will be featured with Mr. William Morrell as the caller.

The auxiliary met last night following a swimming session to enjoy the meeting along with a picnic dinner.

Announcements of the dance were made by the following committee members:

Joan Russell and Nancy Wilson, food chairman; Betty Anne Bolton, tickets; Barbara Goss and Judy Noble, decorations; and Kay Mc Cart, invitations.

Miss Jean A. Briel Honored at Shower Given by Attendants

Miss Shirley Brannan and Miss Linda Gerrero were hostesses at a bridal shower held Tuesday night in honor of Miss Jean Ann Briel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brannan, 227 East Third street, Bovertown.

Miss Brannan and Miss Gerrero will be maid of honor and bridesmaid respectively at Miss Briel's wedding which is scheduled to take place Sunday, Sept. 7, in St. John's Lutheran church, Bovertown.

Miss Briel, niece of Mr. and Mrs. John Wadenske, 307 East Third street, Bovertown, will become the bride of Mr. Fred O. Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schwarz, Barto. The Rev. David F. Long, core pastor, will officiate at the ceremony.

They Head Important Committee

As far as teen-agers are concerned, one of the most important things at a party or dance is the food. Joan Russell (above left) and Nancy Wilson (right) are co-chairmen of the food committee for the 'Dogpatch Hop' to be sponsored by the Teen Aide auxiliary of Portstown hospital on Wednesday, Aug. 20, from 7:30 o'clock to 11 o'clock in the Elcker Stables.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S Advice to the Lovelorn Jilted Because Adopted Child

It scarcely seems possible, but it ever forget crises in our lives, it actually happened. A young girl who apparently has the will come to realize that the all the qualities that a young man untrustworthy people in the world should want in a wife has been re-are far outnumbered by the trust-rected by her fiance for just one worthy. reason — that she was an adopted child. It was the young man's court-izing her is understanding, family that broke up the romance tender, loyal and, above all, very, on this ground alone. How cruel very patient, there is every reason can parents be? to believe that he will eventually The foster mother of the girl, win her over. He, probably more who is now in college, writes me than anyone else, can do much the story: to rebuild her faith in men, if he "My husband and I had no chil- consistently shows these qualities, dren of our own, and because we If you have not already done so, loved children we adopted a baby. it might be useful if you could less than a year old, whose par- sometimes manage to have a quiet ents had been killed in an auto- little talk with this young man mobile accident. Ask her if she would never eat alike, and in her senior year of another apple in all her life high school, she started dating a because she had once found a bad boy several years older than she. We thought he was a fine boy. After 15 months of happy com- panionship, they became engaged and set the date for their mar-riage. My daughter was planning her wedding and had invited the friends she wanted to be her wed- ding attendants.

"Then all of a sudden she came home one night crying. She said her fiance had told her their wed- ding would have to be postponed: that she should go on to college as she had planned, and they would marry as soon as she had graduated. By then, he said, he would have saved enough money so they could go to housekeeping.

"Although my daughter was deeply hurt, embarrassed, and quite bewildered by this sudden turn of events, she did as he sug- gested and went on to college. She accepted his point of view and began planning again for the future, using money of her own to buy silver, household linens, china and practically everything they would need for their house except furni- ture.

"However, this boy gradually saw less and less of her, stopped writing to her entirely and had no contact with her other than a very infrequent phone call. We were all at a loss to know what the trouble was until finally a friend of ours, who was also a friend of Bob's family, came to us and told us that Bob's father objected to his marrying an adopted girl about whose family history he knew nothing.

"This experience has made our daughter lose all faith in men. She dates other boys but says she will never trust another as long as she lives. She is now seeing a lot of a fine boy, a college graduate, who is working on his master's degree. They both will finish their studies about the same time. He knows she is adopted. He wants to give her a ring, but she will not accept it because of her past experience.

"Do you think it possible that she never will forget that first love affair? Our feeling is that the first boy is not worth worry- ing over or he would never have per- mitted his father to come between him and the girl he loved. Do you agree?"

I certainly do agree. And to your other question about whether or not it is possible that your daughter can never forget her dis- illusioning experience, I would say this: That while of course she will never forget it, since none of

Anthony Eden Eager To Marry His Eve, Clarissa Churchill

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Britain's dapper foreign secretary Anthony Eden, 55, and pretty Clarissa Churchill, 32, orphaned niece of the Prime Minister, will marry in a registrar's office today after a three-day engagement.

The once-divorced Eden, who described himself as the "happiest man in London," got an extra- cost special marriage license today to speed things up. Ordinarily, a three-week waiting period is re- quired.

Registrar James Doomsday Hol- liday will unite the aristocratic- born couple at his Caxton hall of- fice in formalities which usually take only five minutes.

LATER, THE couple will fly to Portugal for a brief honeymoon. Eden's divorce two years ago from the former Beatrice Helen Beckett after 27 years of marriage; ruled out a church wedding under rigid rules of the Church of Eng- land. The divorce was granted on the grounds of Mrs. Eden's deser- tion. She is now in the United States.

It will be the first marriage for Miss Churchill who worked during the war in the code room of Eden's foreign office. Blonde, blue-eyed and brainy, she was 1953's prettiest London debutante.

More recently, she did publicity work for a British film producer. Both the dapper and carefully- groomed Eden and the vivacious Miss Churchill studied at Oxford and both come from wealthy British land-owning families.

A CAREER politician and diplo- mat for more than 30 years, Eden is widely regarded as heir apparent to 77-year-old Winston Churchill when the Prime Minister steps down.

The marriage will closely unite Eden with the Churchill family. Miss Churchill moved into the Prime Minister's official residence at No. 10 Downing street last night. A small family reception will be held there after the wedding.

Although born Spencer-Churchill — the correct full family name — Clarissa dropped the Spencer just as Winston did, for brevity's sake.

A CROWD of about 500, mostly women, waited outside No. 10 Downing street today to catch a glimpse of Miss Churchill. She ap- peared smiling, bareheaded and wearing a smart gray suit with black accessories and a large square emerald engagement ring set in sparkling diamonds.

She was entertained at a cele- bration luncheon party today by her cousin, Randolph Churchill, the Prime Minister's son.

Eden, bareheaded and wearing a light gray gabardine suit, rode in a taxi to the registrar's office for today's formalities. He, too, was smiling but said "Even for the happiest man in London, this must be just another working day."

To Wed Eden

Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, (above), will become the bride of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. She is shown at her desk in a London For- eign office in 1947. The forth- coming wedding, involving Britain's most eligible diplo- mat and Miss Spencer-Chur- chill, niece of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, was the subject of a formal announce- ment in London.

Lady Rebekah Lodge Meeting Is Held in Odd Fellows' Hall

Lady Wittenmyer Rebekah lodge meeting was held last night in Odd Fellows' hall.

Mrs. Larue Seifert, noble grand, presided.

A draping of the charter was held for the State assembly vice president, Mrs. Blanche Zeck, Pittsburgh.

Those taking part were: Mrs. Seifert, Mrs. Daisy Henry, Mrs. Minnie Kline, Mrs. Lillian Ru- bright, Mrs. Jane Dotterer, Mrs. Ruth Boens and Mrs. Ruth Bit- ting.

A report was given by Mrs. Henry on the Rebekah and Odd Fellows picnic held at Willow Grove on Aug. 2. Mrs. Lillian Longenberger, representative to Rebekah home in Philadelphia, gave a report on the home and also stated that jar day will be held Wednesday, Oct. 29. Lodge members are asked to bring their can goods or cash donations to the lodge hall before that date.

Pig-in-the-box was won by Mrs. Kline.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 27, followed by a birthday social.

'Get Rich Husband' Says Beauteous Zsa Zsa Gabor

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Beauteous Zsa Zsa Gabor advised also beau- tiful Corinne Calvet today to try getting a million dollars out of a rich husband rather than out of her in a law suit.

"It's much easier to get a mil- lion dollars out of a rich husband than it is out of another actress," she purred. Miss Gabor was once married to American hotel mag- nate Conrad Hilton and has ex- pressed satisfaction with her di- vorce settlement.

Miss Calvet has sued Miss Gabor for the million, charging that the blonde Hungarian told a magazine reporter she (Corinne) wasn't really French. Miss Calvet makes a living by being real French on the screen.

"I never said it," Miss Gabor told reporters today. The sui- she said, was "ridiculous."

Bookkeeper Loses Deposit Of $66, Book

A Pottstown YMCA bookkeeper on her way to the Security Trust company to make a $66 deposit discovered that she had lost the black leather folder containing the money when she was about a block away from the bank.

The YMCA deposit book, also was in the folder.

Alice A. Delopaine, 46 West Fourth street, reported the loss to the YMCA at 11:30 a. m.

She said that she always carried the folder next to her long handbag under her arm.

Miss Delopaine said yesterday she walked through a crowded store below the YMCA, entering on the King street side and leaving at the High street side.

SHE REPORTED that she may have lost the folder in the store since she was most likely to be jostled in there.

When she arrived at Penn street the folder was no longer beside her handbag and she looked inside

Youths of Grange Ask for Activities

"Schedule more activities that will interest youth" was the suggestion offered most last night during a roll call on how to interest youth in Grange activities at a meeting of the New Hanover Community Grange conducted by children of Grange members.

The youths assumed the offices of their parents at the "youth night" meeting and directed the social program.

Mrs. Dorothy Geisler, Mary Alice Smale and Mrs. Arthur Landis were appointed to plan the program for a "booster night" meeting sometime in September to which non-grange members will be invited in the hope they will become members.

The social program last night included community singing, two games, one led by Mrs. Mildred Fulmer; a vocal solo, by Sally Kehl; an instrumental presentation of two marches by Hazel Harold and Mary Alice Smale and the singing of birthday greetings to those who observed birthdays during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Alex V. Tisdale, executive director of the YWCA, is ready for any problems that may walk into the organization's building at 315 King street. "We'll do all we can to help," she says, but United Fund donations are vital if the YWCA is to continue serving as a headquarters for community affairs.

Babies Are Expensive

diapers of today and the hospital care in her semi-private room to bearing children at home. That is the opinion of modern mothers in general in Pottstown.

MRS. GEORGE ELLIS, 421 Jefferson avenue, thinks the old method of having children at home did not harm her children. She had nine healthy boys and girls and none cost more than $20 to deliver.

Mrs. Ellis cooked all her own food, chopped it and strained it for her children. "It was a lot more work then to take care of children," she said.

Mrs. Robert E. Eppheimer, 13 Farmington court, has four daughters, the most recent having been born the past month. She said that the cost per baby has risen in the past few years since she had her first child.

When she had her last baby her private room cost $13.50 per day, a few dollars more than when she had her first baby, she said. The caesarean birth is about the only type birth which has not gone up in fees.

THEN THE new arrival is ready for vitamin drops, cod liver oil drops and other kinds of drops. And baby powder, oils, mild soaps, and other pleasant-smelling cleansers which seem to acquire an added cost because they are "tender to baby's skin."

Then bassinets, cribs, strollers, playpens and playpen pads and the expense of the new addition of their cage. It was no trick at all to find a back door that was wealthy.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick could have expected a confession by asking basic question: "Would you do it Junie who did it, but this would not all over again." Pottstown young have been cricket, for Junie's mothers and fathers without hesitation exclaim "Yes!"

complete their work in several weeks.

They have begun construction on three of 35 homes in the Brookside homes development, west of Brookside country club. Footing and foundations have been erected.

A third project of the Philadelphia partners, five homes and a drug store at North Keim and Jackson streets, remains in the planning stage.

They haven't decided the type homes to construct in this project.

The 62-house Pilgrim Hills development of Henry Spigel and Philip Seltzer, Philadelphia, is underway. Numerous homes in the project on Wilson street, between Adams and Washington streets, are under construction.

Earl M. Kerstetter, Pottstown builder, reports 18 homes of his 25-house Tenth ward development under construction.

"We are coming along nicely," Kerstetter reported. "There are eight families living in the development. By the first of next year we hope to have all the homes completed."

Houses in the Kerstetter tract, along both sides of Warren street, between Mineral and Mervine streets, sell for $10,950. A section of the street between Mineral and Master streets has been paved, under the new street ordinance.

This past Jan. 24 the Montgomery county housing authority awarded contracts for a 100-unit Federal housing project valued at $1,000,000.

On Maple terrace, bordered by Grace and Master streets, Feist avenue and Maplewood drive, eight ranch type homes in the $30,000 classification are under construction.

Others of the same type are planned for the two-block square section. Lots in the terrace are of various sizes.

Added to the building picture are the $2,000,000 building project at Pottstown hospital, scheduled to begin this Fall, and the $4,000,000 Bramante plant of the Doehrer-Jarvis corporation, now under construction.

MRS. TISDALE —

ship has gone over the 100 mark.

Another organization instituted by the YWCA is the Newcomers club, described by Mrs. Tisdale as "a godsend to newly-arrived Pottstonians."

The club utilizes the YWCA for such activities as rummage sales, art classes, square dances, parties, and plays.

THE BUSINESS Girls club of the YWCA has entertained servicemen at the Valley Forge and Coatesville hospitals, and has taken care of the unfortunate at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Also using the facilities of the YWCA are the Girl Scouts of America, the home nursing class of the American Red Cross, and the Deb and Teen Aide auxiliaries of the Pottstown hospital, who have held dances and handicraft classes in the gym.

And the list of YWCA services is still far from complete. It is used as a headquarters for the Visiting Nurse association, the Pottstown Repertory group, the Pottstown Council of Church Women, the Pottstown Conference of Christians and Jews, the League of Women Voters, the Council of Social Agencies, Kiwanis-sponsored dances, and the Future Teachers of America.

One popular feature of the YWCA program is the Monday night swim held from 7 to 8 p. m. at the YMCA pool, under the instruction of Mrs. William L. Eagle and Fern Drumheller. The program has helped many young girls and older women learn the rudiments of swimming and diving.

This year a ten-week course was initiated at the YWCA in dancing, story-telling and sports for the benefit of fifth and sixth-grade girls, and a graduation tea was held for Seniors of North Coventry, West Pottsgrove and Pottstown High schools.

said Lonnie Wiseman, Limerick fireman and auto repair shop owner who directed five other firemen from the company in extinguishing the blaze.

Wiseman, who could set no estimate on the damage immediately, said most of the red paint on the cab's exterior was scorched or burned off.

HE Said only one short blast from the company's high pressure fog system was required to extinguish fire in the cab's interior woodwork. The only fire that remained when the firemen arrived a few minutes after Wiseman was notified by telephone by an unidentified resident near the scene.

Wiseman said Hightower told firemen flames burst through the floorboards of the cab as the truck, laden with scrap iron, climbed the south side of

North Coventry Grange To See Films on Fish

Wayne Bickel and his youth committee, will present two motion pictures on the propagation of black bass in Pennsylvania at tonight's meeting of the North Coventry Grange.

MRS. TISDALE feels the YWCA should be available to any organization which is trying to be of service to the community, and another example of this policy is the use of the gym granted to the Pottstown Rose society for their first annual show in June.

Whenever the Schuylkill river is in danger of overflowing, the same gym is where 55 cots are set up to house homeless families.

"We can get ready for action in 15 minutes," says Mrs. Tisdale, "but we can't do the job alone. The Red Cross feeds them, the Visiting Nurses wash them, and the Family Welfare society supplies clothes. We all work together."

All of these agencies have one thing in common. They belong to the newly-organized United Fund, which will make its first solicitation for funds this Fall.

The YWCA expects to spend $14,000 during the coming year in carrying on its "open-house" policy of community progress. Of that amount, $9600 will have to come from the United Fund.

That is one problem the YWCA is hoping the public will solve.

WILLIAMSPORT, Aug. 13 (AP)—Dense smoke from a small basement fire swirled through 11 floors of the city's largest hotel today, routing some 400 guests including 100 Little League baseball players.

A dozen persons were treated at the scene for shock or smoke inhalation. The hotel is the Lycoming.

There was no immediate estimate of damages to the 30-year-old structure in the center of the Williamsport business district at 4th and Williams streets. Observers believed smoke damage in the lobbies and lower floors may prove "considerable."

Reds Divide Doubleheader With Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby came back to Wrigley Field for the first time today since 1933 as a National League player or manager and watched his Cincinnati Reds split a doubleheader with the fifth-place Chicago Cubs.

Bob Kelly, 24-year old righthander, turned in his first major league shutout as he pitched the Cubs to a 7-0 second game conquest, after Hornsby's Reds coasted to a 11-3 payoff in the opener. Bubba Church won his fifth victory, giving up 11 hits.

Kelly held the Reds runless on six hits—two of them in the ninth inning. It was his third victory.

Bud Podbielan was charged with the loss although it was a 1-0 game when he was lifted for a pinch-latter in the Cincinnati seventh. The lone run off Podbielan was rookie catcher Harry Chitt's No. 3 home run, one of the young backstop's three hits for a perfect day at bat.

The Cubs jumped on Frank Smith, Podbielan's successor, for five runs in the seventh as Dee Fondy blasted his ninth homer to account for three of the markers. Hal Jeffcoat's fourth homer produced the final Cub counter in the eighth.

The Reds collected 14 hits off Johnny Klippstein and Dick Manville in the opening game.

Hank Sauer, the Cubs' slugger, missed both games with a stiff neck.

In Philadelphia, famed "City of Brotherly Love," everybody's crazy about Bobby Shantz, who already hurled 20 wins for the Athletics this season. At left, Packy Schwartz, A's trainer, tenderly massages Bobby's priceless pitching arm. At right, Bobby strikes a sculptural pose with that famous southpaw soupbone. Note back muscles that give him that driving power.

Jethroe started the Boston score 3 to 0. Mathews hit a homer, ing in the first inning, pounding Jethroe contributed two more good out a four-base blow as the Braves for four runs and Gordon clouted a leadoff batter.

The Phillies made it a 1 to 1. The first game was a shutout contest in the second but Jethroe victory for veteran righthander scored again in the third.

Carl Drews, who limited the Braves to five hits and fanned eight, Del Ennis and Connie Ryan hit homers to help the Philadelphia cause.

MILLARD also robbed Sundstrom in the second inning by leaping high to nab Norm's hot liner.

Mignona made what was probably the most crucial catch. After Johnson singled over second on a Romig lei-up pitch, Millard hit the longest ball of the game to deep left center in the fifth.

Mignona got a good jump on the ball and hauled it down out near the macadam. He also caught another fly resting on one knee after slipping on the damp grass.

Tonight Elks play their final league game against Amvets. The Amvets need the win to remain in the playoff running.

USWA Runs Streak to 19 With 2 Wins

Weather Gives Picnic Planner Big Headache

So you think you've got weather troubles? Consider William Kummerer Jr. and his weather headaches. Maybe your gripes won't seem so large.

Chairman of the Pottstown Federation of Men's Bible classes picnic committee, Kummerer arranged a family picnic for the past Saturday. With 250 members in the federation, Kummerer envisioned a thousand or more turning out to enjoy an old-fashioned family style gathering, where everybody shared picnic suppers with his neighbor.

It rained the past Saturday. Plenty hard. You remember?

SO KUMMERER got a weather headache.

But he quickly arranged to stage the postponed picnic at Ringing Rocks park this Saturday.

Yesterday he learned Ringing Rocks was "taken" by prior reservation.

So he set Aug. 23—that's a week off—as the time for the picnic, and the place as Manatawny park.

Weather forecast for that date? "I'm not disheartened," said Kummerer yesterday. "I still have hope!"

P.S.—Just in case, Kummerer plans a rain date for the Aug. 23 picnic.

This Was Their Big Moment

Mary Esther and Susan Schoenly, before the microphone, sing their duet to the novelty tune, "Mother Goose Flowers," in their specialty number of the playground operetta, "Mother Goose Island." About 250 boys and girls of the nine borough playgrounds participated in the finale of the play areas last night at 7:30 o'clock at the Senior High school. About 700 persons attended the show. After the operetta, each playground put on an individual skill. The evening's entertainment over, awards were given to the children who earned enough points during the Summer to win them. They were circular blue patches with gold lettering stating that the child winning it had earned the requirements for the award during 1952. (Story on Page 1).

OBITUARIES

JULIA L. (ASTHEIMER) NEIFFER, Lloyd Nester, Collegeville RD 1, FER, wife of Frank R. Neiffer, and H. Daniel, Blum road, Pottstown RD 4, for the past town RD 4.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 404 High street.

In failing health for the past six years, she was hospitalized the past Aug. 6.

Daughter of the late Christopher and Amelia (Rantz) Astheimer, she was born in Limerick Center and was a lifelong resident of the Pottstown area.

Mr. and Mrs. Neiffer lived in Pottstown RD 4, near Whiteside inn, for the past five years. Before that, they lived at 632 Beech street for two years and at Walnut and Adams streets for 15 years.

She and her husband would have celebrated their 50th anniversary in February.

Kenilworth Playground Plans Annual Festival

Plans for the annual festival on Aug. 22 and 23 were discussed by members of the Kenilworth Playground association during a meeting Tuesday night.

The festival will include games, music, and entertainment, with fireworks and a supper on the final day. The festival committee includes Sherman Hess, chairman; Lester Rock, Leo Pickard, Van Fisher and Russell Keim.

The islands of Indonesia stretch along the equator from the southernmost mainland of Asia to the northern tip of Australia.

The station wagon struck a tree along the right side of the street to the right of his station wagon, damaging the door yesterday at 12:40 p.m.

William Scherfel, 1034 Schuykill road, Kenilworth, was driving south on Franklin street. He pulled to the side of the street to let an Empire Hook and Ladder company truck pass.

The station wagon struck a tree in front of 15 North Franklin street. Scherfel reported the accident to borough hall.

Boy Suffers Cut Lip When Struck by Bat

Joseph Skokowski, 10, of 882 South street, suffered cuts of both lips and lost parts of two upper teeth early last night when he was struck accidentally by a baseball bat in the hands of a friend near his home.

The cuts, one on the inner lower lip and the other on the outer lower lip, were sutured at 7:15 o'clock at Pottstown hospital where the boy was taken by Anthony Dinnocenti, a friend of the Skokowski family who lives at 905 South street.

The bat knocked chips from two of the boy's upper front teeth. The youngster's family said they understood he was watching some friends play baseball and walked too close to the batter.

Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Skokowski.

Boy Beamed With Rock Gets 2 Stitches in Head

Richard Hedgepeth, 5, of Apt. 32-C, Road A, Hilldale, was treated for a cut on the back of his head for a cut on the back of his head at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning at Memorial hospital.

Two sutures were required to close the wound, which was caused by a stone thrown by a playmate of the youngster.

Leukemia Relapse Suffered by Boy, 3

Tommy Mann, 3-year-old son of a Pottstown physician, who seemed to be pulling through the latest crisis in his long battle with incurable leukemia on Tuesday, suffered a relapse yesterday in Children's hospital, Philadelphia.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Mann, Maple Gardens, he was in semi-conscious condition, unable to recognize anybody. His condition was the same at midnight.

His father, who had hoped to return to Pottstown yesterday, has stayed with his wife at the son's bedside, and he will remain there until this crisis is ended. The youngster, Charles Astheimer, Kimmsburg, has been in and out of the hospital since the past March.

By the work one knows the workman.—J. De la Fontaine.

Welcome to Pottstown

POTTSTOWN welcomes the Middle Department association of Fire Underwriters. This organization of fire insurance companies is settling here in the Singer building, 362 King street. Through the really firm of Binder and Binder, the fire insurance people signed a five-year lease.

The firm will employ a dozen persons to start off with, may increase the payroll. That means Pottstown workers will get jobs, so it's a boon to the community.

But nicest compliment to this community was an attention by W. W. Hartman, assistant manager of the association, that Pottstown was chosen after many other sites were looked over.

"Geographically," he said, "Pottstown is situated well to serve four counties, Montgomery, Berks, Chester and Northampton."

That's a good recommendation.

We hope if other firms want to move out of Philadelphia they come to Pottstown to make their homes. We have lots of room... and we always have out the welcome mat!

Compulsory Health Insurance Sick!

AT its convention, the Republican Party went solidly on record against socialized medicine or any variant thereof, with a plank which said, in part, "We are opposed to Federal Compulsory Health Insurance with its crushing cost, wasteful inefficiency, bureaucratic dead weight and debased standards of medical care."

The health plank adopted by the Democratic Party is on the vague side. It advocates Federal aid to medical education. But it does not endorse the compulsory health insurance plan. This in itself marks a significant change, for formerly, due to Administration pressure, the Party has urged that plan as the proper solution to our health problems.

These planks—the one very positive, the other something of a compromise—unquestionably reflect the fact that the policy-makers in both parties have come to the conclusion that the American people want no part of either socialized medicine or politically-dominated medicine.

Every poll and survey has indicated that, and it is an interesting sidelight on the situation that the recent Congresses haven't even bothered to bring the health insurance scheme to a vote.

This doesn't mean that the public at large or Congress thinks we have no health problems, and that nothing more needs to be done.

Everybody concerned—including the doctors—recognizes these problems and is vitally interested in their ultimate solution.

But the great majority wants them to be solved without compulsory political tax measures of the type which have ominously reduced the standards of medical care in other nations.

Very great progress has been made in a short period of time to better serve our health needs.

Far greater progress will come in the future on a voluntary basis.

OPS Retrenches

THE Office of Price Stabilization must soon cut its staff in half—from 12,000 to about 6,000 employees—because of heavy budget reductions imposed by Congress.

As is to be expected, OPS and other officials are saying that the result will be to cripple the whole price control program, and that the consumer will be the greatest sufferer.

That may seem a compelling argument to many people. But it is purely a superficial argument which ignores the long-term dangers the controls create and the damage they do to the economy.

Controls, by their very nature, attempt to replace the natural law of supply and demand with fallible human judgment.

Political expediency—the everlasting search for votes and patronage and power—often influences that judgment.

Business is enmeshed in red tape, and hampered with volumes of complex, confused and conflicting rules and regulations.

Everyone from the biggest manufacturer down to the corner retail store is harassed by bureaucrats and jobholders who frequently have small understanding of the matters with which they deal.

Under these conditions, initiative is lost, ambition is dimmed, lethargy sets in.

If the controls are of the "tough" variety which short-sighted people have demanded, the inevitable result is a drop in the production and distribution of goods of many kinds—people won't spend their time and money and energies trying to do a job if they see no chance to make a fair profit.

Penn Street Traffic Light a 'Good Move'

Lauds New Light

To the Editor: Every Pottstown shopper who deplored of her life when she crossed High street at Penn should utter a prayer of thanks to the borough officials responsible for putting up a traffic light at that corner.

We women can cross the street now in safety. I imagine the traffic cop who used to work there also feels a little safer, because I know he has been brushed by reckless drivers many a time.

I am open-minded enough to know the light is causing some drivers some nasty moments. Especially the drivers who gun their cars up to 60 miles an hour, then suddenly are confronted with a red light.

You know the kind whose brake-slammings and tire-screeching is heard for miles around.

I notice, too, that some cars are being hit in the rear by other reckless motorists who don't know the light exists there.

Still it was a good move and all in favor of the walker.

This a great favor to women and we're happy about it.

WASHINGTON Rankin May Lose Seat In Congress

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—It isn't often that members of our only country club—the Congress of the United States—connive to eject a veteran of 32 years' service in that honorable exclusive organization. Even though they may not appreciate his parliamentary manners or personal behavior, they usually turn their collective cheek on the offender.

But his vile temper, his frequent feuding with his colleagues and his Klan-like vituperation of racial minorities appear to have caught up with representative John E. Rankin of Tupelo, Mississippi. If his fellow-members behind-the-door conspiracy succeeds, it may cost him his seat in the Mississippi primary on August 26.

Politics being what it is, it is relatively unimportant that this concerted effort to oust Rankin will cost the taxpayers at least two million dollars, possibly more, and deprive the nation's sailors of a decent spread on their bread. The anti-Rankin move is a far-reaching as well as a funny inside deal.

MARGARINE: The story begins with the recent redistricting of Congressional districts by the Mississippi Legislature, which threw Rankin and Thomas G. Abernethy of Okolono into the same district. Which man will represent the new section will be determined in the primary late this month. The easy-going "Tom" Abernethy is as popular as his opponent is disliked.

This was the political picture when the House Agriculture Committee, late in the recent session, considered H. R. 3012, which would permit—not require—the Navy to use margarine. No opposition was expected. This permission was given to the Army and Air Force in 1919, a year before the federal restrictions on colored margarine were repealed.

The proposal had been approved unanimously by the Armed Services Committee before it was submitted to Agriculture, of which Abernethy is a member, for formal action. It had the approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for culinary and economy reasons.

H. R. 3012 encountered unexpected difficulties in Agriculture, however. Shrewd August Herman Andresen of Minnesota, an implacable foe of the substitute for his constituents' butter, saw a chance to help both his product and Abernethy. He also sold the idea to the Democratic leadership, which has frequently been irritated by Rankin's splenic tactics.

With Rayburn-McCormack approval, Agriculture shelved the Navy margarine measure in order to act upon an Abernethy proposal for increasing the loan on cotton. It was pointed out to the leaders and Rankin's enemies that this bill would strengthen Abernethy's chances in the primary.

COSTLY: On the other hand, any discussion of the Navy margarine question might injure Rankin's opponent, for Abernethy had led the floor fight for general repeal of federal anti-margarine laws. And there are quite a few dairymen in the combined, Rankin-Abernethy district, who have seen their sales and profits decline from competition of the less expensive product.

Meanwhile, pending passage of H. R. 3012, the Navy will have to spend at least two millions a year for butter supplies. Moreover, where refrigeration is unavailable in warm climates, butter quickly becomes rancid, meaning that the gobs will have to eat bread in the raw.

One comment seems pertinent: If Rankin is beaten in the primary, it will be the most costly political funeral in American politics.

The margarine question, incidentally, may be an anti-Democratic issue in several dairy states. These include the normally Republican areas of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, which voted for Truman in 1948. They have a total of 33 electoral votes.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

For MISS RUTH

ARLENE LATCH,

Pottstown Rd. 2.

BECAUSE her engagement to Mr. David F. Holmes, Douglassville, has been revealed.

Turnpike Signs Confusing

To the Editor: Recently I drove to Pottstown from central Pennsylvania and had occasion to use the new turnpike.

Although I will be home again after this letter appears in print, I hope my complaint may lead to some action.

I thought the turnpike was a magnificent piece of engineering, but the direction signs around the cut-off at Route 23, in the vicinity of Valley Forge, are insufficient for the out-of-area driver.

For example, when you come from the Schuylkill expressway toward Valley Forge, the sign directs you to leave at "the next interchange" before actually entering the turnpike, but that interchange has three separate exits.

I think many people driving toward the vicinity of Pottstown must be confused as they leave the turnpike or expressway near Valley Forge.

I hope the next time I visit your city the road directions will have been made a little more explicit.

Harrisburg MR. AND MRS. R. S. SHIPPEN

How to Stop Speeding

To the Editor: I'm all for fixing up these so-called streets in Pottstown, but I've got a different slant on those "thank-you-ma'ms" at the intersections.

Leave them there, I say. That's right, leave them there, right where they are.

Even if every street in town is rebuilt with concrete, the borough should leave those dips alone, because if the motorist knows they're there, he'll slow down to a reasonable rate of speed, rather than go dashing madly up and down new highways.

Fear of damaging his precious axles and springs will keep a driver from speeding much more effectively than all the red lights and stop signs in the world.

Pottstown NOT CRAZY

Rain Helped

To the Editor: Hooray for the rainy season! I'm for it, because it stopped that devilish spreading of spalls and oil on our main streets. Did you notice it? I hope it rains for the rest of the Summer so they can't do it again.

Let's Play Postoffice

LETTER FROM A BAFFLED BABE

Dear Dorothy:

Something about your column bothers me, and as a constant reader I feel I have some explanation due me. I know you meet the most interesting people. You've told us so interesting and entertaining detail. But Dorothy, the law of averages makes me feel you are leaving something out. Isn't that just half the story? Aren't you short-changing your public, of which I am a member in good, if slightly frustrated, standing?

You meet the MOST people, too. Lots of them are bound to be dull. Aren't there so-called glamor goddesses and gilded male heartthrobs who are nothing but beautiful blanks when you meet them? Tell us about some of the bores once in a while, and some of the bores, too. They might be interesting. People but a lot of people would be interested in finding out about a few of them—sort of a galaxy of What Makes Dorothy Yawn.

Jane P. Goetz Stamford, Conn.

DEAR JANE: You've just given me a wonderful idea for a column—but I don't think I have the heart to write it. Isn't it enough that I sometimes paste the performances of these glamor-pusses or comment critically on their behavior when they've been naughty? That's my job—but do you really think I ought to slap them in public just because they aren't scintillating in private?

Robert M. Page Scarsdale.

Dear Robert: I agree there is quite a resemblance. But somehow I feel that if Gov. Stevenson does sing, he is not a tenor. My guess would be a light baritone.—D. K.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

BETH G., 18, is a shy college coed. "Dr. Crane, I want to be a writer," she confessed after class one day.

"I wonder if you'd mind reading one of my stories?"

"And would you give me some suggestions about becoming a successful author? I have mailed several stories to various magazines, but without success."

Millions of Americans have the urge to attain fame and fortune by writing. More power to them!

Every intelligent adult can learn to turn out salable copy, if he is willing to study the proper technique.

Writing is not an art. It is a science, like mathematics. If you have enough intelligence to understand arithmetic, then you can learn to write acceptable poetry or fiction, greeting card verse or prize contest letters.

A college education is not necessary. In fact, it often is a handicap!

For the person who can easily evolve long, smooth sounding sentences is less likely to succeed than the fellow who writes with effort and makes his sentences short but striking.

WHEN THE young French poet Racine sent a letter to Boileau asking the latter for literary criticism and advice, Racine boasted, "I ought to tell you I write with great facility."

Boileau's reply should be the motto of every author.

"I hope to teach you to write with great difficulty," he answered.

In a similar vein, Byron is reputed to have said, "easy writing's damned hard reading."

The converse of that phrase means that easy reading indicates difficult writing.

Too many aspiring writers are like Beth today. They are shy, introverted individuals who lack real sweethearts. Or they are unsatisfied in marriage.

So they "emote" in gushing, sentimental love affairs via the hero or heroine of their own stories.

Lacking real love affairs, they are inexperienced, so their stories do not ring true.

Thus, their dialogues and vocabulary are not typical of real life. In fact happy marriage usually checks the literary desires of most poets and even many fiction writers, too.

The essential in successful writing is the ability to evolve suspense. Can you inject dramatic conflict in your plots? And can you quickly delineate your characters so they are distinctive?

We have thousands of English professors who cannot write salable copy chiefly because they know English but not psychology.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—Mario Lanza didn't fire his long-time manager, Sam Weiler, as generally reported. Weiler quit when he discovered he couldn't get a big, new life insurance policy, unless he was relieved of the tension, worry, etc., connected with his work. He decided life minus Mario's temperamental didoes was preferable to life with Lanza. However, Weiler gets 10 percent of the singer's earnings in the coming years, even though he no longer actively handles him.

Ann Blyth and Janice Rule are the femmes who'll flank Lanza in "The Student Prince" when that off-positioned picture gets rolling. Carv Grant and Countess Dorothy di Frasse are putting some shekels into Robert Alda's new musical, "Herald Square."

LESLIE CARON's rich, piano playing made him want to do a Broadway night club turn with his trio this Fall, but Leslie wants him here. Hale and hearty Horace McGov has another book on the best seller lists—"Scalpel."

Colie Porter returns to Hollywood after the sad duty of burying his mother in Peru, Ind. Nancy Chaffee playing the National Tennis Finals to prove she and Ralph Kiner aren't cradling a secret.

Carlton Carpenter has a crush on young writer Natalie Toline. Warners offered Kathryn Grayson the "Grace Moore Story" at a price hard to turn down—a mere $150,000.

DEATH—Joseph M. Ryan, 66, died at his home, Glasgow and Elm streets, Stowe, from apoplexy. He was a former Ninth ward councilman, an organizer of the West End Fire company, and an officer of the Men's Bible club of St. Paul's Reformed Sunday school.

NEW AIRPORT—A new airport has been opened at New Hanover near the intersection of the Layfield road and Route 73 near Hickory Park, Charles Heinley is the owner of the 62 acre farm. He expects a large number of private planes to use the new airport as the Pottstown Valley airport near Collegeville is being closed.

LIKES POTTSTOWN—R. A. F. Wing Commander C. J. Clark, of Birmingham, England, who is in Pottstown on business connected with the Jacobs Aircraft Engine company, likes Pottstown. He states the wide High street lined with trees and attractive shops reminds him of his home city. He says in England every able-bodied woman is now working in a war plant.

OPPOSE WAR—In a debate by the Cedarville Literary society the negative side won. The question was "Resolved that a European war would be beneficial to this nation." The negative side was upheld by Truman Wade and John Swenk while the affirmative speakers were Stella Leopold and Arthur Murray.

PICKPOCKETS—Pickpockets were busy at the Farmers picnic held at Memorial park, Schwenksville. They secured more than $200 according to reports of police. Among the victims were Frank Cressman, Schwenksville; Oliver Stoudt, Obelisk; H. G. Martin, Norris-town; Jesse Long, Spring Mount, and Jefferson Herib, Pottstown.

RETURNES FROM PARIS say Deanna Durbin is losing weight at a great rate. The Duke of Harra (whose father is Haile Selassie) is shedding his mate to marry an Italian film star. Geraldine Brooks and Gene Raymond topped the business of most New England theaters with their Boston run in "The Petrified Forest."

Johnnie Ray laid an egg big enough to frighten an ostrich! No wonder Joan Davis was so care-free in Honolulu. She made a test TV film (for a new series) before she left, and NBC is paying her a huge sum everyweek until it's sold. Then she gets even more. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., writes his next stop is Germany, where he'll shoot some films. In New Orleans, the most competition the drive-in theaters have is not television. Only giant mosquitoes! Judy Holliday is off for Nantucket to await the Siork. Hear told the New York Democrats will run F.D.R. Jr. for Governor. At a large pool-side buffet, we noted conversation was something the important people on hand soon ran out of. Whole thing turned into a giant card party.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M. D.

The bromides are drugs that are sometimes used to relieve nervousness pain or epilepsy. Unfortunately they can be dangerous, often causing insanity and delirium—more often, it is thought, than has been generally reported.

Many times a patient who has taken bromides for nervous or functional complaint is later admitted to a hospital delirious or unconscious. He may even be admitted with abnormal thoughts in a violent state, or in a coma.

Usually, nervous people are the largest consumers of bromides. Many of these persons, when they become delirious, are mistakenly sent to a hospital for a mental disease until the bromide intoxication clears up. When this occurs, and they find themselves in a mental hospital, it may prove a serious blow to their self-esteem and permanently injure them, from a mental point of view.

Many people are very sensitive to bromides, and are easily intoxicated by them. Also, anyone who has been on this type of drug for a long time may develop the symptoms of poisoning.

As a rule, bromide poisoning develops slowly. Early signs may be impaired thinking and slowness of wit. This may be followed by loss of memory, drowsiness, and a skin rash. Finally, the person becomes disoriented, has marked emotional disturbances and, in severe cases, develops delirium and imagines things that are false. He may even have hallucinations and coma.

Many times, a simple blood test can detect bromide poisoning. Once discovered, it is easily remedied. A weak salt solution injected into a vein usually helps rid the body of the bromide.

It is better, of course, to prevent intoxication in the first place. This can be done by using bromide drugs carefully, and only under the direction of a physician. He is best able to tell the correct amount to use.

★ SPARES—It's lucky we have some spares on hand. Maybe you noticed Dr. Gustave W. Weber graciously has accepted the job of filling the Transfiguration church pulpit until a new pastor is obtained. Former pastor of St. James Lutheran church here, Dr. Weber now is director of human relations at Doehle-Jarvis. He'll fill in after the Rev. Theodore L. Fischer leaves Transfiguration to take a Philadelphia pulpit. Pottstown also has around the Rev. Delaine E. Story, former First Baptist pastor, who fills in during preaching emergencies. Sunday he was in Reading, this coming Sunday he'll be in Evansburg. Also around to help out a fellow-minister is the Rev. Arthur H. Simpson, Park court, pastor emeritus of First Presbyterian. Nice to have these gentlemen of the cloth around.

★ BACK HOME—Eight-year-old Ralph Graham, 237 South Washington street, whose story of his affliction of the heart was printed in The Mercury recently, has been discharged from Children's hospital, Philadelphia, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, happily announced. Although Ralph is improved, he will have to endure an indefinite period of bedrest. Figures how much you're worth on a hot day. To test protective coatings of fine machined parts, industry now conceals synthetic perspiration. And the stuff costs nearly a dollar a pint.

★ ROMANTIC version of the origin of the fan is found in mythology. Cupid is said to have plucked a wing—or maybe just a handful of feathers—from the back of Zephyrus, god of the west wind, to fan his beloved Psyche as she lay sleeping on a bed of roses. Feathers have been used in fans from the first. The ancient Egyptian fans employed peacock and other feathers; the oriental fans often were made of feathers, and they were sometimes incorporated into European fans which reached their peak in artistry in the 18th century.

★ JAPANESE INVENTION—The folding fan was invented by the Japanese in the seventh century. A.D., and probably was brought to Europe by Portuguese traders a thousand years later. These folding fans used many materials, such as ivory, mother-of-pearl, tortoise shell, and carved sandalwood for the sticks, or ribs. But Aunt Mathilda doesn't use 'em any more. In modern times fans have deteriorated somewhat, not only because of electric cooling, but to some extent because of commercialism. A cardboard fan, printed with the legend "Wintergreen for President," or "Joe Doakes—Fine Plumbing," can scarcely compete as art with the delicate handwork of Asiatic or European craftsmen. One modern revival of the fan is found in the entertainment world. Some dancers could not perform without fans. GIVE AWAY DEPT.—German shepherd puppy, three months old, male, Mrs. John Birmingham, Constitution avenue, Stowe, phone 4789-R. Female rabbit dog, five months old, John Bernhard, 344 Spruce street, phone 4072.

State Gets $3 Million Civil Defense Funds

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Federal government today allocated $1,024,560 to Pennsylvania for purchase of Civil Defense equipment. The amount is one-third of the $3,000,000 the State received last year.

The Federal funds, part of a $15,000,000 allocation to the various States, will be used on a matching basis mostly by local communities. State Civil Defense headquarters indicated.

The funds are to be used for the purchase of medical supplies and the equipment, attack warnings and other communications, fire fighting and rescue equipment and training and public education.

"Much of the past year's $2,000,000 allocation was used to stockpile medical supplies on a Statewide basis as well as other equipment used by State headquarters," said Dr. Richard B. Gerstl, State Civil Defense director.

"Most of this allocation, therefore will go to the local Civil Defense councils," he said. "Mainly needed are sirens, rescue trucks and fire trucks."

SCHOOL AUTHORITY

erick township consolidated school finished two years ago, the Collegeville Township High school which is nearing completion, and the addition to Upper Pottsgrove school, which still is in the planning stage.

Roberts explained that the State legislature authorized the setting up of school authorities to get around the fact that many school districts do not have the legal borrowing capacity to build needed new schools.

The authority is repaid by the school district through a rental arrangement. A Pottstown area school completed under the authority plan is North Coventry's new elementary school.

Janney and company will prepare a preliminary prospectus of the bond issue. After the authority has advertised for and received construction bids, it will be able to fix the amount of the issue and to decide which is the better of two alternatives, selling the issue privately through Janney and company, or selling it publicly through bids.

At the organizational meeting, the authority also incorporated, adopted the State charter and accepted by laws.

Representing Janney and company was John B. Bunting, Wynnewood, its field supervisor.

The authority members have staggered terms: Yost, five years; Kingolo, four years; Kulp, three years; Wert, two years, and Harp, one year.

MATZ CHOSEN —

over which John Zinn presided. The three other candidates were not identified.

MATZ, ELECTED president of Local 2325, United Steel Workers (CIO) at the Stanley G. Flagg company the past June after serving as financial secretary, shop steward and vice president the past seven years, missed winning a commissioner's post by eight votes in the November, 1950, election.

He was seven votes behind Koch in a six-candidate contest for three seats on the board. The successful candidates in addition to Koch were Peter Don, now board president, and Elmer H. Hampton, two of the Republicans who will approve or reject Matz soon as Koch's successor.

Charles H. Frech, the other Republican, and William J. Regan, the lone Democrat on the board, are the other commissioners.

Regan said last night the Democratic club, in which Matz is serving his second term as vice president, will appoint someone at its September meeting to replace Koch in the Democratic committeeman post he also occupied.

A tap and the maker at Flagg's since he moved to Stowe 12 years ago from Elmer, Schuylkill county. Matz has been active in politics as a Democrat 35 years, since he was 21.

WHILE LIVING in Elmer he was a Democratic committeeman nine years and was president of the Elmer Roosevelt Club Seven. For the past three years he has been appointed president of the West Pottsgrove Political Action committee by Pottstown PAC officials.

Matz is married and the father of two daughters and a son, all of whom are married. The daughters are Lorraine, wife of Robert C. Long, Apt. 19 D, Road A, Hilldale, and Marlene, wife of Richard Weand, of the Linden street address.

Matz' son is James who lives at 115 Linden street. Matz has four grandchildren.

The net income of the Doehler-Jarvis corporation during the first six months in 1952 is only 40 percent of net income for the first half of 1951.
